PHONE CO-OP TO BEGIN WORK ON BUILDINGS SOON

Construction of 254
Miles of Lines Will Be Started July 1st

Work on the foundations for buildings to house the unattended dial exchanges at Sandy Hook, Campton, Hazel Green and Ezell has been commenced by the Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative.

Meanwhile, Woodrow W. Barber, manager of the co-op, said the central office building in West Liberty would be enlarged and modernized, and that work on construction of 254 miles of lines in the co-op's three-county area would be started about July 1st.

The unattended dial exchanges at Sandy Hook, Campton, Hazel Green and Ezell will be constructed of pre-fabricated steel and will be 16x20 feet. Excavations for footings at Campton, Sandy Hook and Hazel Green were begun 10 days ago, and the site for the Ezell exchange has been graded.

Meriwether, Marve and Associates, architects of Lexington, are drafting the plans for enlarging and modernizing the co-op's central office in West Liberty. The present building will be enlarged and raised three feet and a two-car garage and stock room will be built underneath.

The remodeled building will house the central exchange and the co-op's commercial office. Mr. Barber said also the grounds around the building would be landscaped.

Bid notices for constructing 254 miles of lines in Morgan, Elliott and Wolfe counties have been sent to prospective bidders.

Mr. Barber said he expected actual construction of the lines in the three counties to be started about July 1st.

The co-op was granted an REA loan of $455,000 for the project, which to construct a modern dial system in Morgan, Wolfe and Elliott counties.

OHIO TAKES KENTUCKY ON MEMORIAL DAY

For many years people from Morgan and adjoining counties have been going to Ohio with their families to live and work. Many Ohio towns like Middletown, Dayton, Fairborn, have a large population from Eastern Kentucky. Most of these people have built or bought homes, engaged in business or have found employment in factories and are making good and rearing their families in Ohio.

All of these people have left relatives and friends back home and many own a farm or home which they left in Kentucky and continue to have interest. They like to return to visit relatives and friends and places they left.

It is pleasant to talk with these people when they come back for a visit, to hear such expressions as "My son is a teacher in the high school," "My daughter and her husband own their home and both work at NCR." Or perhaps a statement such as this: "We came back yesterday and drove up Vance Fork to see my parents. The road is good and we drove in a few minutes what used to take hours on foot or by horse." "I noticed they have their hill land in grass."

The roads were filled with cars Saturday and Sunday, nearly all with Ohio license plates, came to Kentucky on Memorial Day.

The Courier extends a hearty welcome to our five hundred subscribers in Ohio. Greetings, and we hope you had a safe trip.

B. T. MORRIS OUT FOR COUNTY JUDGE

With the encouragement I have had from many of the citizens from different parts of the county and after due consideration of my own, I have entered the race for County Judge of Morgan county. PUBLICATION OF STATEMENTS IS NOW NECESSARY

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 2—Last Friday's appellate court decision that local governmental agencies in Kentucky must publish detailed financial statements every year was called one of the most important decisions ever made by Kentucky's court of last resort.

This was the appraisal of the opinion given by W. H. Townsend, Lexington attorney, who represented the Kentucky Press Association in the litigation that originated in Bourbon county after two newspapers there brought suit against the fiscal court, board of education and others.

The KPA intervened in the suit shortly after it was filed and was made a party plaintiff.

Townsend said that, during the trial of the case in the Bourbon Circuit Court and even after it had been appealed to the court of appeals, local governmental agencies in various counties in the state had inquired of him whether or not the court decision would be binding on any agency that was not actually a party defendant in that particular suit.

The attorney pointed out that the opinion handed down Friday clarified that question beyond any possibility of doubt. "It is binding on everybody, as the court said 'as long as the statute remains on the books,'" Townsend said.

Since the obligations of these agencies are now judicially construed and established, no further court litigation will be necessary, Townsend said.

He added: "Hereafter, any agency that refuses to publish its financial statements in full on the date required by law may be proceeded against by the quick and simple method of procuring a warrant under the penal section of this statute and, upon conviction will be subject to fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500."

Townsend pointed out that, in his opinion, it is probable that each day's failure to comply with law constitutes a separate offense.

Congress Overrides Democrats to OK Ike's Plans for Farm Reorganization

Democrats Unable To Halt Republican
Farm Policy Shift

The Congress Wednesday gave final approval to President Eisenhower's Agricultural Department reorganization plan over Democratic protests it would give Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson "blank check" powers to change the federal farm policies.

The Senate approved the plan last week 46 to 29 and the House voted approval Wednesday 261 to 128.

The reorganization plan took effect Wednesday at midnight.

The plan gives Benson sweeping authority to reorganize about half the agencies in the Department of Agriculture. He already held power over the rest.

The plan does not affect the Farm Credit Corporation or the Commodity Credit Corporation. It gives Secretary Benson power to centralize power over department functions and to create and name two new assistant secretaries.

Senator Russell of Georgia led the Democratic attack against the plan in the Senate. Russell declared the plan surrenders too much congressional authority to an appointive officer, especially when Benson has not yet disclosed his farm policies.

Russell said Benson apparently intends to let the present price support law lapse at the end of 1954 and revert to the lower supports provided in 1949. He

TO THE PEOPLE OF MORGAN COUNTY

Many of you have been soliciting me to run for County Judge and I want to say I appreciate this very much. My wife has been very ill and I have been tied up looking after her and haven't had an opportunity to see very many of my friends. I would have made the race for County Judge but since my good friend B. T. Morris is wanting to make the race I will not be a candidate for Judge at this time. I wish to thank my many friends that have given me so much encouragement. I hope that some day I will have an opportunity to serve you again.

Very truly yours,

Secy. Benson
'Gets Sweeping' Powers

said this will "continue the decline" in farmers' income.

Kentucky's two senators were divided on the farm reorganization plan. Senator Earle C. Clements voted against the plan and Senator John S. Cooper (R) voted for it.

In the House only one Republican, Rep. Gross of Iowa, voted with 127 Democrats to defeat the measure. House opponents of the plan were led by Southern farm groups leaders who denounced it as an undesirable "sweeping grant of power to a non-elective official."

This year's Chevrolet brings you the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And it's the kind of everyday economy that saves you money wherever and however you drive!

Inch along through heavy traffic. Roll up the miles in steady highway cruising. Long trips or short errands, byroads or boulevards, you get far more miles per gallon in this great new Chevrolet.

New high-compression power is the reason. Both the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in Powerglide models—and the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine in gearshift models—deliver more power on less gasoline. Acceleration and hill-climbing ability are greater, fuel consumption is lower!

This is the kind of economy that counts the most—important gasoline savings for the driving you do, together with lower over-all costs of upkeep. And along with it, you enjoy all the other advantages that only the new Chevrolet offers you. Come in and see for yourself!

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission available on "Two-Ten" and Bu Air models only.

INDO-CHINA IS THE TROUBLE SPOT TO WATCH

Speaking in Kentucky on Armed Forces Day, Admiral I. N. Kiland told his hearers, "In no instance have the Communist aggressors abandoned a phase of cold or hot war without shifting to another in their effort for world domination."

This warning came from a man well qualified to give it. Adm. Kiland was a fighting admiral in World War II in the Pacific and since that time has held high command posts in the Pacific, from which he had just returned. He is now the commanding officer of the Fifth Naval District with headquarters in Norfolk.

Adm. Kiland told Kentuckians there are four fronts in the hot war in Asia, the same warning given by Gen. Van Fleet. The one in Korea is best known to Americans. But there are three other wars going on in Asia also—in Indo-China, Malaya and Formosa. Of these Adm. Kiland says Indo-China is the most important. If Indo-China is held, India will not fall and Southeast Asia can stay free.

If the Reds only intend to make peace offers in Korea in order to shift their strength against Indo-China and Malaya where the French and British have been fighting against Communism since the end of World War II, peace would be only a hoax and stratagem, equal to a military victory for Communist aggression.

GRASSY CREEK (By J. M. Gevedon)

June 1—Many old friends too numerous to mention were here for memorial day.

When we hear of such shocking tragedies as was caused by the collision of two cars near Grassy Creek last Saturday, we feel that the law is much too lax in dealing with those who are responsible for the sufferings of the innocent.

ENGLISH BAITERS ARE AIDING THE COMMUNISTS

For too long now it has been a popular political stratagem in America to criticize the British, our closest allies. Cheap politicians find it easier to twist the Lion's tail than to fight Russian aggression. And most of us cheer their rashness. Our history books have made it so. They fail to tell all the story.

For instance, they do not tell us that it was England's fleet that guaranteed enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine from the days of President Monroe until the end of the last century. Had England's ambassador not offered to use the British fleet to guarantee such a doctrine, Monroe would not have issued it, because our nation at that time was too weak militarily and economically to do so. And in our own century it was England who held out against Nazism after the fall of France until we could mobilize.

True, there have been temporary differences between the two great English speaking nations. But these always have proved to be only temporary. In the long run, it is the common principles, common aims, common concept of world justice and common racial links of these two great nations that have bound them together on major policy.

Today England and the United States stand as the greatest bulwark against Communist aggression. Near-sighted politicians who wittingly or unwittingly aid in driving a wedge between England and America are aiding Communists aggression.

This could be told of any number of folks with the "me and God" complex but the way we heard it: a colored preacher was winding up a long prayer: "Use me, O Lord," he said. "Use me, even though it be only in an advisory capacity."

This political situation is getting serious. The GOP has now elected two county commissioners at Columbus, Georgia. Even Adlai Stevenson and Harry Truman have fled to the Pacific.

Copying from one book clearly is cribbing; copying from two is research; and if you get someone else to do the copying, that is a project.

The Courier—
If I didn't get the Courier I would be very lonely about the people I used to know back in 'ol' Morgan. I know quite a few of you. I'd love to hear from any of you, especially the girls I went to school with when we stayed at the dormitory in 1922. I would love to hear from or have the address of Electene Patrick. I think she married a Bowers.

Best wishes to all readers of the Courier.

The Courier—
Our trip across country was fine. We drove all the way and didn't even have a flat tire! California sure is a beautiful state and the weather is nice and warm. We look forward to every Tuesday; that's when we get our paper, the good old Licking Valley Courier. We would be lost without it.

We have a lovely six room house here on Brighton Ave. and there are two big palm trees in the front yard. It's only a block and a half down the street to the ocean beach. We are enclosing a snapshot of the ocean, but no camera could ever capture the real beauty of the ocean.

We went to church yesterday cut here on Sunset Cliffs. Every one was so nice and friendly and made us feel right at home.

I saw in the paper where Sgt. Lindbergh Amx is stationed in San Diego. If someone would send us his address we would like very much to look him up.

One of my husband's buddies, Harold Coon, BM-3 from Florida, was out here for dinner last night. He also accompanied us to church.

That's all for now. Say hello to our friends in Morgan.

MARIE & ROET FRANKLIN
5030 Brighton Avenue
San Diego, California

Licking Valley Courier—
John D. Engle, Jr. of Lexington some time ago asked me to write him a story of an adventure I had in Morgan County in 1897. Some one has just sent me a copy of your paper containing a printed account of my story. I wish to thank you for printing it and for the excellent way you have edited and presented it.

It is to me an ever memorable incident which would bring me pains and memories but for the kindness of everybody with whom I came in contact during my misfortune. Every one has left me a kind memory which today has grown and blotted out almost all memory of my sufferings.

I used to know Morgan County very well and later during the oil boom of Canal City became well acquainted with that part of the county. During the flu epidemic of 1917 I acted as physician in Cannel City, your accomplished and beloved Dr. Whitaker having the flu himself at the time. I was not a graduate physician but the Governor sent me there to do the best I could because of the need of doctors and the need of the people was so great. I could nurse and could encourage and could allay many fears and had been given special instruction by a graduate physician in the handling of flu.

In all my contacts with Morgan County I gained pleasant memories. True, a misadventure once at West Liberty but it did not get me and the cause was business rivalry which long ago was settled and is now forgotten. Those members of the mob whom I met and discussed it with, all became my friends.

My grandmother's first cousin John Hazelrigg was your leading lawyer for years and wrote a brief history of Morgan County. I have never been able to get a copy of it.

Being an ex-editor of a county paper, daily paper, and one or two magazines I think I know something about a paper when I see it. I want to congratulate you upon what seems to me to be an excellent county paper. I am so glad to see our mountain counties making such progress. Schools and roads have brought their peoples into the world again and they are proving themselves to be old-fashioned, patriotic Americans. There can be no better people.

REN F. NICKELL FOR CO. ATTORNEY

To The Voters Of Morgan County—

I am again calling your attention to the fact that I am a candidate for Democratic nomination for County Attorney at the coming August Primary, and I do so I think that it is not far wrong to make the claim that I have made you a good County Attorney.

I have to the best of my skill and judgment, honestly tried to represent the interest of The Commonwealth in all matters involving law enforcement, and have at all times diligently and zealously tried to take care of all matters involving the interest and welfare of my county.

I have always been a good roads booster, and have worked hard for the improvement of our county roads program from the days of the W.P.A. to the present time. I have at all times assisted in the planning of a road system for this county and worked for the completion of that system. There is plenty to be done yet, but we are by hard work and cooperation of local and State Highway authorities, on our way to better and more roads for Morgan county.

There are many sincere and public spirited people who have expressed themselves as being in favor of our present set up and endeavors. With this conclusion I readily agree.

Do you want to change just for the sake of a change without regard as to whether or not the change will bring about improvement?

It seems that I have heard of people who unreasonably howled for and demanded a change in the order of things, and when they got the change were bitterly disappointed. Do we want to change to things we know not of? Think it over.

Very truly yours,
REN F. NICKELL

His mother told him all the news she could remember and remarked that their chickens had been stolen except one old hen that was then setting on 15 eggs which they hoped to save.

Jasper's father had hid his son's horse and was on the porch keeping watch for enemy troops. Suddenly he ran into the house and yelled to Jasper that some Yankee soldiers were coming up the road and to get out the back door quick. He grabbed his hat and pistol and ran. He did not have time to get away and climbed up a large oak tree, full of leaves, to hide. His father then thought of the old hen and ran and searched under the smoke house, grabbed the hen and eggs, put them in his hat and reached them up to his son in the tree.

The Yankee soldiers came up, searched through the house and about the barn for Jasper and his horse but failed to find them. All the time Jasper was watching from the old oak tree. The soldiers then came back to the yard and drew some water from the well close to the old tree, and drank deeply.

After they left, Jasper climbed down and noticed as he took the old hen out of his hat that some of the eggs were hatching and the little chickens were breaking through the shells.

Jasper's father was always proud that he saved his son and his hen and chickens.

Mountain Muses

Edited By
JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.

Send all poems to Mr. Engle
326 Woodland Avenue, Lexington, Ky.

As a rule, M.M. does not use poems written about friends and relatives who have died. However, I should like to make an exception of the following poem which Mrs. O. C. Slone of Waverly, Ohio wrote in memory of a relative of hers who was killed in the war. I wish to use this poem so that I may point out its similarity to the ballad form.

The ballad, of course, is one of the oldest forms of literature. It began long before writing and reading became a common practice. The original ballads were sung, and they dealt with stories of battles, heroism, love, etc. They were handed down from generation to generation by word of mouth and were, of course, changed or added to by different singers. Many of the old ballads whose origins are unknown were brought to America by our forefathers and traces of them can still be found in the Kentucky hills and other rare places where swing and jazz have not completely taken over. These ballads are also labeled folk songs and are often sung on the so-called hillbilly radio programs. Examples of such songs are "Barbara Allan" and the more recent "Frankie and Johnny."

The ballad, therefore, is a song that tells a story, consisting of any number of four-line stanzas. The first and third lines of each stanza usually have four accented syllables to the line, while the second and fourth lines have three accented syllables each. The pattern, however, is very frequently changed. Ballads are always simple and make a direct appeal to the emotions through an account of some tragic event. Many poets have used this form or variations of it. Coleridge used it in "The Ancient Mariner" and Keats in "La Belle Dame Sans Merci."

It is interesting to note how closely Mrs. Slone, perhaps unconsciously, follows the traditional ballad form in the following poem:

To the parents, wife and many friends
And the children of the soldier brave,

So sad was the message they sent you
Telling of the death and location of grave.

When he left his home for training
His heart was very sad,
To leave behind his wife and babes,
His mother and dear old dad.

He left them all weeping;
When he had to turn away
He said, "Be brave; don't weep for me,
For I'll be back some day."

He did return from training
On a very short furlough,
And on returning to his camp,
Across the sea did go.

He wrote and said the Savior
Had saved him from his sin;
Said they would meet in heaven
If he never returned again.

Then soon they had a battle,
And he fell with his gun.
The Master stepped in then and said,
"Your battles are o'er; a crown you've won."

So parents hold your head up.
Be brave as your boy who did die.
If he could speak to you, he'd say,
"I died for freedom, so do not cry."

We've had a World War Number One And a World War Number Two.
If this is not Number Three then why

License Sale Begins For 'L' to 'Z' Drivers

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 1—Most circuit clerks are now selling 1953-55 driver's licenses to persons whose last names begin with "L" through "Z." The sale of licenses is starting a month earlier this year to avoid the July rush and the $1.00 penalty for late renewal, according to the State Department of Revenue.

Drivers in the "L" through "Z" name group are required to purchase two-year licenses for $2 before July 31. Vehicle operators whose last names begin with "A" through "K" and who have licenses will not be required to buy another license until 1954.

Because wilt showed up in tobacco last year, many farmers in Powell county are growing disease-resistant varieties.

Tom Huffman, Bullitt county, reported good results from sowing 12 pounds of Ky 31 fescue seed an acre on lespedeza.

JULY WORKSHOP SET AT COLLEGE

Writers of the best manuscripts submitted during the second annual Morehead State College Writers' Workshop, July 20-31, are assured publication of their stories, articles and poems.

Plans for the Workshop, open to all residents of Kentucky and surrounding areas, include the publication containing outstanding material written by student members of the two-week session.

The staff for the Workshop, only one in Kentucky, will include Robert P. Tristram Coffin, Pulitzer Prize winning poet; Katherine Anne Porter, one of America's most outstanding writers of short fiction; James Still, poet, short story writer and novelist from Hindman, Ky., whose short fiction has appeared frequently in the yearly O. Henry and Best Short Stories anthologies; and Joe Creason, feature writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Student writers may attend for either week of the Workshop, or for the entire period; it was announced. Fiction and poetry will be emphasized the first week, and fiction and non-fictional prose the second. The general schedule for both weeks includes individual conferences between student writers and professional writers in the mornings, group discussion of original manuscripts in the afternoon and a series of evening lectures on writers and techniques of writing.

Tuition and living costs, lower than those of any other comparable workshop in the nation, have been kept at a minimum in order to encourage the development of writing talent in Kentucky. James McConkey, the workshop director, said, Tuition is $10 a week and dormitory $2.50. Meals will be available in the cafeteria for approximately $9 a week.

The session offers college credit if desired. Further information may be obtained by writing the director.

Job Insured Payrolls At New High In 1952

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky payrolls covered by the State's unemployment insurance program set a new annual high of $1,103,000,000 in 1952, it was announced today by Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes.

On this figure paid into the State's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund $18,520,000. Experience rating provisions of the law which allow reduction in the insurance rate for employers having stable employment experience afforded a net savings in taxes of $10,291,000.

Without the rating, employers would have paid the full three percent of payrolls, as required by the Federal Social Security law, or $28,811,000, Barnes said.

The average rate was 1.66 per cent as compared to the standard 2.7 per cent. An additional three-tenths of one per cent is automatically paid to the federal government for administrative purpose of paying benefits to unemployed workers.

Payments last year were $15,272,265.20.

Kentucky's trust fund totaled $140,414,534 at the end of 1952 and according to Barnes, is "the most actually sound unemployment insurance trust fund in the country."

The fund earned $2,937,138 in interest last year, which, together with tax collections, brought net revenue to $21,437,138 or $6,184,873 above sums paid unemployment workers.

Tallest Kentuckian Is Wanted For Festival

Louisville's Founding Festival is looking for him.

The Festival, in connection with the coming Amphitheatre production "The Tall Kentuckian" wants the name of the tallest man in each Kentucky county and the five tallest men in the state.

The tallest Kentuckian in each county will receive tickets to the opening performance of the production. The five tallest Kentuckians in the State will receive all-expense-paid trips to Louisville for the opening performance and will be guests of honor at a picnic in Iridquois Park Sunday, June 14. The tallest Kentuckian will receive an engraved trophy.

Highway Death Rate Reported Up Slightly

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 25—Deaths on Kentucky highways came at a slightly higher rate for the number of miles traveled during the first quarter of 1953 than during a similar period in 1952, but at a lower rate than during all of 1952.

A report just released by the Department of State Police shows that highway deaths occurred at the rate of 8.9 for each 100 million vehicle miles traveled during the first three months of this year against a rate of 8.6 for the first quarter of 1952. The rate for all of last year was 9.4.

State Police officials do not see the increase over early 1952 as significant but believe it may be only the result of better accident reporting. Some death reports take months to reach here but reporting is generally better than it was a year ago, they point out.

There were 173 traffic deaths during the first three months of this year and 166 for the same period of 1952. Vehicle miles traveled in Kentucky through March, 1953 totaled 1,949,000,000, against 1,931,000,000.

The mileage figures are compiled with the use of a formula employed by the National Safety Council and taking into account the amount of gasoline sold within the state. The gasoline sales are determined by tax figures.

Through May 20, the reported 277 deaths for 1953, compared to 289 for the same period last year.

NATURAL reproduction of pines in an area protected from damage by fire and grazing.

By Berlyn Brown

Dillard Murphy of Ezel, chairman of the Morgan County Soil Conservation District; Albert Dorsey, Vo-Ag teacher at Ezel; Jack A. Jones, area conservationist; SCS of Ashland, and Berlyn Brown, work unit conservationist; SCS, West Liberty, spent one day recently in Leslie county where they visited the farm of Flora Wells.

Mr. Wells, a well known farmer and lumber manufacturer, has planted 100,000 pine, spruce and walnut trees on his farm in the last seven years. About 100 farmers and employees of the Soil Conservation Service and the State Division of Soil and Water Resources were on hand to hear and see the results of this successful and far-sighted farmer's tree planting and reforestation project.

Farmer, from 29 counties of Eastern Kentucky saw plantings from 1 to 7 years old and asked many interesting questions of Mr. Wells and forestry specialists who were present.

Mr. Wells stated that he would have started planting trees many years earlier on his farm but he didn't gain possession of the farm until after his father died.

Mr. Wells, for many years in the lumber business too, stated that the demand for top quality poplar lumber and veneer logs is greater than the supply, about $225 per M bd. feet for lumber and $300 per M bd. feet for veneer logs. Pine lumber too is in great demand and is commanding prices from $75 to $200 per M. board feet for top quality.

So you see there is a great future ahead for well managed woodlot lots of fast growing soft and hardwood.

Ruffed Grouse Nest Records Are Desired

Biologists of the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Department are conducting studies regarding the life history, habits, and current status of the ruffed grouse, also known locally as the "pheasant."

This fine game bird was once abundant in Kentucky, but it lives only in forest depths and its numbers have greatly declined with clearing of forest lands. It is apparently now staging a partial recovery. The 1952 hunting season on grouse was the most successful in recent years.

Records of nests are desired in order to obtain information on nest success, causes of mortality, number of young produced, and other valuable data.

Anyone finding a grouse nest, or having information as to the location of a grouse nest, is kindly urged to notify Harold Barber, West Liberty.

Minority Disagree On Authority Of Judge

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 2—Three judges of the Court of Appeals filed a blistering dissent to a majority opinion of the Court which held that a Circuit Judge might convene a special grand jury without proper notice and cause an inquiry to be made and indictments return.

The minority opinion, prepared by Judge Parker W. Duncan and concurred in by Chief Justice Porter Sims and Judge Bert T. Combs, held to the view that the "Court had created, rather than interpreted a statute" and clung to the view that 10-days notice of such special terms must be given. The majority opinion, filed earlier, had held that Claude Beach, convicted Harlan county slayer, had been lawfully accused of crime.

Farm Facts
FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS

by Wm. C. Johnstone
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE
KENTUCKY BANKERS ASSOCIATION

June Is Dairy Month

Kentuckians like practically all other Americans, are this month celebrating National dairy month.
Dairy Month for Kentucky farmers is a time to take stock of the dairy enterprise—to take pride in our accomplishments, to be humbled by our failures, and to be awed by the tasks still undone.
It is also an opportunity to work together in promoting nature's best food—milk.

Dairymen rank high in industries of Kentucky. In 1951 Kentucky had almost 600 thousand milk cows that produced about 1.2 million tons of milk—worth near 100 million dollars. This is not high in comparison with tobacco, but these figures do not tell the whole story. Dairymen are a great soil building industry. It is the most efficient way of utilizing the many acres in Kentucky that should be kept in hay and pasture crops. Dairymen, indirectly, contribute greatly to the efficient production of tobacco, corn and garden crops. It has been conservatively estimated that each dairy cow in Kentucky is worth $1,000.00 to the state.

The one black mark against us in the dairy industry is our low average production of milk per cow. Our average is 3,960 pounds per year and we rank 37th among the states. California has the highest state average with 7,700 pounds. We are far below the 53.00 pounds average of the United States. Our need is for BETTER cows, not MORE cows.

The introduction of artificial breeding in Kentucky in 1946 was one of the greatest steps taken to improve dairymen in Kentucky.
The State Association is now made up of 48 locals. In 1952 about 70,000 cows were artificially inseminated. This modern method of livestock breeding permits even the smallest dairymen

New Lifesaving Technique Now In Use

NEW ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION TECHNIQUE, the Nielsen "back-pressure arm-lift" method, which has now been adopted as standard by the American Red Cross, the Armed Forces and the National Safety Council, is demonstrated in these scenes from a new motion picture, "Seconds Count," produced by the Etna Casualty and Surety Company. The 10-minute movie, which portrays a step-by-step demonstration of the Nielsen method, may be obtained without charge for showings by contacting local Etna representatives or through the company's public education department at Hartford, Conn. The "back-pressure arm-lift" method increases chances of revival since it pulls fresh air into lungs as well as expelling air from them. In administering it, rescuer rocks forward exerting pressure on victim's back (top photo) and then rock backward grasping victim's arms (bottom photo), repeating cycle 10 to 12 times a minute.

What the People
Are Saying . . .

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Coffey of Eagle Lake, Texas, and Mrs. Colfey's sister, Mrs. Bob Ward and Mr. Ward from Pauls Valley, Okla., spent some time here recently checking on records of ancestors, Ben and Martha Pat-ladies; Forest Henry and Rinda

Davis Henry, the parents of Mrs.
Coffey and Mrs. Ward.

Mrs. Coffey was born on Spaw-

Texas.

Mr. Coffey, whose address is Box 368 Eagle Lake, Texas, is superintendent of Tennessee Production Gasoline Plant; Ward, whose address is 221 So. Cherry, Pauls Valley, Okla., is a farmer and barber.

Her husband retiring in 11 years, Mrs. Coffey had this to say about Kentucky, a d Morgan county in particular: "When we retire, we want to return to this place. Prettiest country I ever have laid eyes on, and we've traveled around. The people are hospitable—so friendly. We're coming back."

"The road means everything.
There is nothing like it," says
John Dulen of Ophir who with

Mrs. Dulen was in West Liberty Thursday. They came from their home on Upper Sand Lick in 40 minutes, where formerly it required half a day to get to town.

Born and reared on Sand Lick, Mr. Dulen operates a store he began in 1927. He has been a minister for 30 years. His father was Dr. John Dulen who practiced medicine on Sand Lick for 30 years and also was a minister.

Bass Dulen, his grandfather, came from Tennessee and settled on Smith Creek.

Dr. Dulen married Sylvia Cantrell, daughter of John Cantrill, in 1872. W. M. Coffey, a Baptist minister, performing the ceremony. Theirs was the second registered marriage in Morgan county.

His father's mother was Beth-anna Arms and his mother's mother was Elizabeth Salyer.
